

The Orage Master's Relocates to Whistler's WSSF

December 15, 2007 (Montreal, QC.)— Orage and the WSSF are Set to Rekindle the Flame This April.

With the event calendar spreading like wildfire, two events have managed to leave a mark on the industry unlike any other. One for its post event party scene, the other for the party scene that is the event.

For ten days each spring, the ski mecca of Whistler, B.C. Canada lights up the ski and snowboard world as it plays host to North America's largest winter sports and music festival; The World Ski and Snowboard Festival.

While just below the boarder in sunny Mammoth Lakes, CA, soft goods manufacturer Orage has spent the past four seasons capping off the freeski event circuit with its on hill party better known as the Orage Masters. A one of a kind slopestyle event, slash masquerade party, slash end of season celebration of all things freeski.

The two have a history together as Orage once sponsored the WSSF's Big Air event prior to launching the Masters in 2002. After taking a few years off the two events are scheduled to join forces this April as the WSSF welcomes Orage and its Masters event as one of the festivals three marquee ski venues. Sue Eckersley, Director of WSSF simply states "We are very excited to have Orage back as a part of the festival, as they were in the first few years. The Masters event draws every top name pro on the circuit and brings an energy all its own."

Likewise, Jamie Brandon Orage Global Marketing Manager can't be more excited to rejoin the WSSF. "Over the years the Masters has taken on a life of its own, the industry has dubbed the event "the anti-comp" and it's remained a true celebration of the athletes that drive our sport. The WSSF is the ultimate venue to showcase the Masters and is undoubtedly the number 1 winter sports festival in the world.

In addition to the Masters slopestyle, skiers are scheduled to throw down at the Big Air and Superpipe events throughout the ten day event. With the festival slated for April 11 to the 20th of 2008, the Orage Masters date has yet to be decided... stay tune for details.
